I. INTRODUCTION

Seven times the District Court, this Court, and the Supreme Court have declined to rule that the Yankton Reservation was disestablished by Congress in 1894.¹ This Court has considered every argument the Rehearing Petitions present at least twice. The Supreme Court has made clear that, “[o]nly Congress can alter the terms of an Indian treaty by diminishing a reservation, and its intent to do so must be ‘clear and plain.’” Yankton, 522 U.S. at 343 (citations omitted); Gaffey, 188 F.3d at 1026. Three panels of this Court and the Supreme Court have determined that there is no “clear and plain” language in the 1894 Act evincing congressional intent to terminate this reservation. Yankton, 522 U.S. at 350; Gaffey, 188 F.3d at 1026; Podhradsky, 577 F.3d at 966. Three panels of this Court have found no congressional intent to diminish lands allotted under the 1887 Dawes Act from the Yankton Reservation, with Podhradsky finding clear intent in the 1894 Act to reserve allotted lands as reservation lands. Gaffey, 188

¹ Yankton Sioux Tribe v. Southern Missouri Waste Management District, 890 F. Supp. 878 (D.S.D. 1995); Yankton Sioux Tribe v. Southern Missouri Waste Management District, 99 F.3d 1439 (8th Cir. 1996); South Dakota v. Yankton Sioux Tribe, 522 U.S. 329, 357 (1998); Yankton Sioux Tribe v. Gaffey, 14 F. Supp.2d 1135 (D.S.D. 1998); Yankton Sioux Tribe v. Gaffey, 188 F.3d at 1030; Yankton Sioux Tribe v. Podhradsky, 2006 WL 3703274 (D.S.D. 2006); Podhradsky, 577 F.3d 951, 961-962 (8th Cir. 2009).

F.3d, at 1026; Podhradsky, 577 F.3d, at 966.

The question of whether allotted lands are “reservation lands” under 18 U.S.C. §1151(a) was properly before the District Court and this Court, and does not violate the law of the case. Podhradsky, 577 F.3d at 971, n.14; Gaffey, 188 F.3d at 1028-1030; Section III.A., infra. The Petitioners already made this argument when they petitioned for Mandamus in 2006, and for initial hearing en banc in 2008, with this Court denying both Petitions. Section III.A., infra.

Overturing the law of the case established in Gaffey, that this reservation was not disestablished, is unwarranted. 188 F.3d, at 1030. This case is not about unallotted lands sold under Article I of the 1894 Act that the Supreme Court held were diminished from the Yankton Reservation in Yankton. 522 U.S. at 357. It concerns allotted lands Congress did not restore to the public domain in 1894.

The Podhradsky decision does not alter any reservations in the United States already adjudicated diminished by specific Acts of Congress, or alter the Canons of Construction applicable to reservation diminishment cases. For this reason, this case does not conflict with any other precedent, nor does it present an exceptionally important question. Gaffey, 188F.3d at 1021-1022.

II. RESPONSE TO STATEMENTS OF THE CASE

The repeated assertion that there is no Yankton Reservation, despite a long line of correspondent court opinions, and continued passage of Congressional legislation affirming the Yankton Reservation continues to exist, should cease. The Supreme Court's ruling in Yankton that lands sold under Article I of the 1894 Act were diminished from the Yankton Reservation, and Gaffey's holding that the "original" 1858 boundaries of this Reservation were not maintained, are not a basis for further diminishment or disestablishment.

As the Podhradsky Panel found, explicit language in Articles XIII and XIV of the 1894 Act reserved allotted lands as Reservation lands. 577 F.3d at 966. The extensive legislative history also documents the intent of the Tribe and its members, and most importantly, Congress, to include allotted lands as part of this continuing reservation. Podhradsky, 577 F.3d, at 965-67; TB 8-22, 30-36.

None of the other parties have articulated any language in the 1894 Act that extinguished allotted lands from the Yankton Reservation.² Allotments are part of this Reservation under Article XIII (guaranteeing "undisturbed and peaceable possession" of allotted lands) and Article XIV ("Congress shall never pass any act alienating any part of these allotted lands from the Indians") of the 1894 Act. SA 355-356 (emphasis added); TB 13-14; 31-34. The Petitioners have never responded to this compelling evidence of the reservation status of allotted lands.

²The 1894 Act should be construed not as a "reservation of rights to the Tribe, but rather, a grant of certain rights to the United States." Washington State Commercial Passengers Fishing Vessel Assn., 443 U.S. 658, 680 (1979).

Congress has continually recognized that the Yankton Reservation includes more than Indian-owned land. Act of February 26, 1896, 29 Stat. 16; 41 Stat. 468 (1920) (describing land conveyed to a church as “situated within the Yankton Indian Reservation”)(emphasis added); Act of February 13, 1929, 45 Stat. 1167 (describing agency reserve lands as “on the Yankton Sioux Indian Reservation”); Act of June 11, 1932, 47 Stat. 300 (District Court jurisdiction includes “the Yankton Indian Reservation”); Pub. L. No. 102-575 §2005(b)(1992) (authorizing irrigation of “Indian owned land in the Yankton Sioux Indian Reservation”); Pub. L. 107-331, 116 Stat. 2834, 2838 (2002) (Fort Randall Dam overlies “the western boundary of the Yankton Sioux Indian Reservation”).

The courts have unanimously held that the existence of allotment provisions in an Act of Congress, fee patenting of allotments, and sale to non-Indians do not diminish a Reservation. Podhradsky, 577 F.3d at 965 (and cases cited therein). In response, the State and County assert that nothing more than their treatment of tribal members and checkerboarded land ownership in Charles Mix county (a portion of which was never part of the Reservation after 1858) should cause a diminishment of this reservation. The Supreme Court has repeatedly held this is not a basis for diminishment.³ Solem v. Bartlett, 465 U.S. 463, 479, n.23 (1984) (county exercise of criminal jurisdiction for over Indians 63 years - no diminishment); City of New Town v. United States, 454 F.2d 121, 123 (8th Cir. 1972) (county criminal prosecution for over 50 years - no diminishment).

The County assertion that they were denied the opportunity to brief and argue 18 U.S.C. §1151(a) is simply inaccurate.⁴ This is the precise issue appealed in Gaffey. 188 F.3d at 1018; Podhradsky, 577 F.3d, at 966. Further, the Tribe argued that 18 U.S.C. §1151(a) clarified the reservation status of formerly allotted lands now held in fee status, after Section 5 of the 1934 Indian Reorganization Act halted fee patenting. TB 45-46. Petitioners chose not to respond.

III. ARGUMENT

A. Formerly Allotted Lands Now Held in Fee by Members and Non-Members are within the Limits of the Yankton Reservation.

The Podhradsky Court did not violate the law of the case established by Gaffey. 577 F.3d, at 967. The Gaffey opinion left open the question of whether lands allotted under the 1887 Dawes Act, and not sold under Article I of the 1894 Act, are reservation lands under 18 U.S.C. §1151(a). It determined only two things: 1) The Yankton Reservation was not disestablished by the 1894 Act; and 2) The Yankton Reservation includes Agency lands reserved from sale under Article VIII of the 1894 Act. 188 F.3d at 1030. The Gaffey Panel explained its conclusion that the Yankton Reservation is “presumed to have been diminished by the passage of lands into non-Indian hands” when it stated, the 1894 Act did not clearly disestablish the Yankton Sioux Reservation, but it intended to diminish the reservation by not only the ceded land, but also by the land which it foresaw would pass into the hands of white settlers and homesteaders.

⁴The Petitioners knew formerly allotted fee lands were at issue, as evidenced by testimony Petitioners presented in District Court from non-Indian landowners. T.T. 248: 1-22.

188 F.3d 1028 (emphasis added). The Gaffey Panel concluded,

We also assume the land now owned in fee by individual non-Indians is not under tribal jurisdiction unless it is found to be ‘within the limits of [the] Indian reservation.’ 18 U.S.C. §1151(a). On the record before the court, however, we cannot define the precise limits of the reservation which remains.

Id., at 1030 (emphasis added). Podhradsky does not conflict with Gaffey, but rather, answers the precise question left open by Gaffey of whether allotted lands remain reservation, concluding the 1894 Act did not foresee sale of allotments to non-Indians, as evidenced by Articles XIII and XIV. 577 F.3d, at 966.

The “law of the case” argument presented in these Petitions was already rejected by the District Court, and this Court denied the State's Mandamus Petition raising this same issue. Yankton Sioux Tribe v. Gaffey, 2006 WL 3703274 at 3-4 (D.S.D. 2006); T.Add. at 3-4; Doc. 276; Tr. R.Br. at 25.

The State's argument that the Podhradsky court found a repeal of "that aspect of the 1894 Act which caused the allotments to lose reservation status when patented and transferred to non-Indians" misinterprets the Panel's holding. S.Reh.Pet., at 8. The Podhradsky Panel determined that, "[s]imply stated, there is nothing in the historical and documentary record to indicate a congressional intent to terminate the reservation status of the allotted lands . . ." and that

[e]ven if Congress had foreseen an eventual end to the reservation, one which would perhaps be hastened by the allotment policy, such an expectation would not have been at odds . . . with the ongoing maintenance of a reservation on the allotted lands . . .

577 F.3d at 966. Therefore, the Panel's finding regarding the effect of 18 U.S.C. §1151(a) does not conflict with any specific language in the 1894 Act. Id.

The newly cited cases in the County petition do not apply, as they involve reservations where courts have found specific congressional intent to diminish the lands in question from the reservation. Gaffey, 188 F.3d at 1020 (specific act and history must be examined to determine diminishment cases); Cook v. Parkinson, 525 F.2d 120, 123 (8th Cir. 1975)(land diminished from Pine Ridge Reservation by clear language restoring all of Bennett County to public domain in 1910); Little Light v. Crist, 649 F.2d 682, 685 (9th Cir. 1981) (Town of Hardin not on Crow Reservation is law of case where court had previously ruled Reservation diminished by Congressional act); Ellis v. Page, 351 F.2d 250, 251 (10th Cir. 1965) (1891 Oklahoma Cheyenne and Arapahoe Agreement, 26 Stat. 1022, disestablished reservation where Tribe ceded all lands “without any reservation whatsoever”). These cases did not involve Congressional acts reserving agency lands and allotted lands, with an entitlement to “peaceable possession,” such as Articles VIII, XIII and XIV of the 1894 Act. 28 Stat. 314 et. seq.; Cf., e.g., 28 Stat. 314 et. seq., with 26 Stat. 1022 et. seq.⁵

United States v. Pelican, 232 U.S. 422 (1942), does not conflict with the Podhradsky decision, as already explained by the Tribe. TB 65, 67. Pelican specifically held that allotments on the Colville Reservation retain their reservation status because they were not restored to the public domain, and recognizes that jurisdiction “does not depend on the size of the particular areas which are held for federal purposes.” Id., at 446-447. This is analogous to this case where unallotted lands were sold, and allotted lands were reserved as reservation under Articles XIII and XIV of the 1894 Act. Further, Pelican does not account for the passage of 18 U.S.C. §1151(a). Seymour v. Superintendent, decided by the Supreme Court after the passage of 18 U.S.C. §1151(a), concluded that 18 U.S.C. §1151(a) clarifies that reservation allotted lands are not diminished from a reservation when they pass into fee status or non-Indian ownership. 368 U.S. 351, 357-58 (1962). Likewise, United States v. Beardslee held that allotted land now held in fee by non-Indians is 18 U.S.C. §1151(a) reservation land, because, “[d]isestablishment thus is not effected by an allotment to an Indian or conveyance to a non-Indian,” where Congress never returned the land to the public domain. 387 F.2d 280, 286 (8th Cir., 1967).

⁵United States v. Provost, is of unclear application, as the Court held that “Soulek’s house was located on unallotted land” sold under Article I of the 1894 Act, but later referred to the land as “formerly allotted land.” 237 F.3d 934, 936 (8th Cir. 2001).

The other parties to this litigation simply ignore the cases and acts of Congress most analogous to the Yankton situation, already argued by the Tribe and not responded to on appeal, which further support the analysis set forth in Seymour v. Superintendent, Beardslee, and Podhradsky.⁶ Tr.Br. at 68-70.

⁶The State and County chose not to respond to these cases and therefore waived argument thereon on appeal. Tr.Br. at 45-47; Tr.R.Br. at 10, 21-23, 27-28. United States v. Celestine, 215 U.S. 278, 285 (1909)(Tulalip lands all allotted - no diminishment); United States v. Webb, 219 F.3d 1127, 1133 (9th Cir. 2000), cert. denied, 522 U.S. 1107 (“Absent evidence that the tribe and Congress contemplated and intended reservation status to end, or unequivocal language of termination, the Supreme Court has never held that allotted lands were severed from a reservation

Podhradsky correctly held that allotted trust lands that were in trust status in 1948 retain their “reservation” status under 18 U.S.C. §1151(a) because the 1894 Act evinces an explicit intent to reserve these lands as “reservation” under Articles XIII and XIV. 577 F.3d, at 966, n.7. The Tribe clearly made this argument on appeal. T.Br., at 3, 45-46. The Tribe specifically appealed the District Court’s determination that the 1948 Supervised Sales Act reversed the 1934 Indian Reorganization Act freeze of Reservation lands from further diminishment. Id. The Tribe argued that the passage of 18 U.S.C. §1151(a) at the same time as the Supervised Sales Act in 1948 confirms that allotments held in trust as of 1934 retained their reservation status.⁷ Tr.Br. 45-46; Tr.R.Br. at 18-20. The State and County never responded to these arguments.

The State’s arguments on Alaska v. Native Village of Venetie, 522 U.S.

by an agreement for the cession and sale of surplus lands made pursuant to the Dawes Act.”); Southern Pacific Transportation Co. v. United States, 543 F.2d 676, 690 (9th Cir. 1976)(Walker River Reservation not diminished by sale of surplus lands and allotment of remainder); Melby v. Grand Portage Band of Chippewa, 1998 WL 1769706 (D. Minn. 1998) (unpublished) at T.R.Add. 11-15 (allotments not diminished from reservation by sale of all unallotted lands); Lower Brule Sioux Tribe v. South Dakota, 711 F.2d 809 (8th Cir. 1983), cert. denied, 464 U.S. 1042 (1984)(land title transfer to United States without diminishment language in congressional act does not diminish reservation). T.Br., at 62-70.

⁷The Tribal Appendix included Government Exhibit 210, which documents all trust allotments that went into fee status from 1927 to 2007. T.A. at 121-143.

520 (1998) were rejected by the Podhradsky court because Venetie involved Alaska Corporation lands, lands over which Congress had “completely extinguished all aboriginal claims,” and whether they were still Indian Country under 18 U.S.C. §1151(b). 577 F.3d, at 971. The Yankton allotted lands are no different from allotted fee lands on all Reservations in South Dakota, which are reservation under 18 U.S.C. §1151(a), and to which Venetie does not apply. Id.

The new argument that 18 U.S.C. §1153 expanded state jurisdiction refers to an amendment to 18 U.S.C. §1153 that allowed South Dakota to prosecute non-Indian on non-Indian offenses within Indian country, and was added because South Dakota had rejected such jurisdiction in 1902, and again in 1961 by referendum vote. Historical and Revision Notes to 18 U.S.C. 1153, U.S.C. Annotated, par. 6. The Supreme Court already held 18 U.S.C. §1153 pre-empts state jurisdiction over Indians. United States v. John, 437 U.S. 634, 651 (1978).

In sum, the Podhradsky decision upholds the long line of precedent finding that specific congressional language and intent is required to diminish a reservation, and that in passing 18 U.S.C. §1151(a), Congress intended for allotments issued under the 1887 Dawes Act, which have gone into fee status as a result of the Burke Act of 1906 and other amendments to the Dawes Act, to retain their Reservation status. 577 F.3d, at 957. “[T]he Supreme Court has never held that allotted lands were severed from a reservation by an agreement for the cession and sale of surplus lands made pursuant to the Dawes Act.” United States v. Webb, 219 F.3d 1127, 1133 (9th Cir. 2000), cert. denied, 522 U.S. 1107

B. Lands Taken into Trust under the Indian Reorganization Act are Reservation Lands under 18 U.S.C. 1151(a).

South Dakota urges that a proclamation is required to add land to an existing reservation under 25 U.S.C. §467, ignoring the actual language of 25 U.S.C. §467, which authorizes the Secretary to “proclaim new Indian reservations on lands acquired pursuant to any authority conferred by this Act, or to add such lands to existing reservations. . . .” 25 U.S.C. §467, (emphasis added). As the Podhradsky Court correctly determined, “the statute does not state that a proclamation is required when the Secretary decides to add land to a preexisting reservation such as that of the Yankton Sioux.” 577 F.3d at 969. The State’s interpretation of this statute changes the word “or” to “and.” This interpretation also ignores 25 C.F.R. §151.2(f) which defines an Indian reservation for land acquisition purposes as “that area of land constituting the former reservation of the Tribe as defined by the Secretary.” An unpublished internal B.I.A. Guidance cannot overrule the specific language of 25 U.S.C. §467, or 25 C.F.R. §151.2(f). This Court has already determined that Congress’ intent to provide land sufficient to enable Indians to achieve self-support and ameliorating the damage resulting from the prior allotment policies sufficiently narrow the discretionary authority granted to the Department.

South Dakota v. Department of Interior, 423 F.3d 790, 798 (8th Cir. 2006), cert. denied, 549 U.S. 813. There is no conflict with United States v. Stands, 105 F.3d 1565 (8th Cir. 1997), as the Podhradsky court explained. 577 F.3d, at 968, n.13; TB 55. Stands noted that the Supreme Court had previously ruled in Rosebud Sioux Tribe v. Kneip that Mellette County allotted land was 18 U.S.C. §1151(c) land and not 18 U.S.C. §1151(a) land. 105 F.3d at 1571; 430 U.S. 584, 611-612.

Finally, this case is about criminal jurisdiction over tribal members on allotted fee lands - not trust lands. The State should not be permitted, belatedly, to expand the dispute to claim jurisdiction over trust lands. TB 48; TA 112-117.

C. The Yankton Indian Reservation Has Not Been Disestablished.

1. Maps A, B, C, F & G and the Affidavits in the Appendix and Supplement Should be Stricken as New and Inaccurate.

The newly created Affidavits and Maps A, B, C, F & G not in the Record should be stricken and the Tribe moves for the same. New research not previously presented to this Court is not admissible in a Petition for Rehearing. MacKay v. American Potash & Chemical Co., Inc., 270 F.2d 646, 646-47 (8th Cir. 1959) (no new evidence allowed on rehearing); Smith v. Armontrout, 865 F.2d 1502, 1504, n.5 (8th Cir. 1988); Anderson v. Knox, 300 F.2d 296, 297-298 (9th Cir. 1962)(Rehearing petition not opportunity to “reargue” case with new evidence.)

There is nothing truly “new” in the Addendum or the Supplement filed in January. United States Exhibits 201-211 were in the record before the District and Eighth Circuit Courts. T.A. 74-156. They include Exhibit 204 listing 5000.75 acres that went from allotted trust to tribal trust status, Exhibit 211 listing 25,191.40 acres of present day allotted trust lands, and Exhibit 210 listing all trust allotments that went into fee status from 1927 to 2007, including the dates each tract went out of trust status. T.A. 113-117; T.A. 144-156; T.A. 121-142. Exhibit 210 shows 9,803.19 acres of allotted land left trust status from 1927 to 2007. T.A. 121-142; Addendum 1-22.

The State never refuted Exhibit 210 when presented to the District Court or the Podhradsky Panel, and should not be permitted to do so at this late date.⁸ The Tribe has not been provided with the legal descriptions for lands listed on the new maps A, F and G necessary to confirm or refute their validity. This is untested evidence. The Affidavits of Ms. Mazourek, asserting percentages of the lands that are non-Indian owned based on “family last names” has no validity. The only accurate way to determine current Indian ownership is to verify tribal enrollment. Maps A, F and G appear to include Tribal and tribal member owned fee and trust lands and are therefore inaccurate. Map B was never in any Court Record. Map D is in the Gaffey and Podhradsky Court records, and shows all allotted lands.

2. There is no presumption of disestablishment applicable to this case.

The Yankton opinion discussed a “presumption of diminishment” stemming from Article I of the 1894 Act of Congress’ “cede, sell, relinquish” language to hold Article I unallotted lands were diminished from this Reservation. 522 U.S., at 344. This case is not about unallotted lands sold under Article I of the 1894 Act. It is about lands reserved from sale under Articles XIII and XIV of the 1894 Act. Id., at 349. The Supreme Court cautioned that Article VIII of the 1894 Act establishing agency reserve lands, just like agency reserves at issue in Solem v. Bartlett, 465 U.S. 463, 474 (1984), “counsels against finding the reservation terminated.” 522 U.S. at 349. No federal court has disestablished a reservation where agency reserve lands were set aside by Congress. Solem, 465 U.S., at 474; United States v. Webb, 219 F.3d, at 1031.

3. The Rehearing Petitions provide no Basis to overturn the law of the case under Gaffey that the Yankton Reservation was not disestablished by the 1894 Act.

The law of the case under Gaffey is that the Yankton Reservation has not been disestablished. 188 F.3d 1010, 1030. Nothing in the Rehearing Petitions warrants a re-examination of that holding.⁹ The State cites nothing the Gaffey court was unaware of, or anything in the Podhradsky record to warrant a rehearing. This Court has already once declined to hear this appeal en banc. July 9, 2008 Order Denying Petition for Initial Hearing En Banc.

The main argument in these Petitions appears to be that if an Act of Congress diminishes a Reservation and does not leave a geometric shape, then there is no Reservation, even if there is no Congressional intent to disestablish the Reservation. The Gaffey and Podhradsky courts already rejected this argument. Gaffey, 188 F.3d at 1030; Podhradsky, 577 F.3d at 967, n. 11.

The Petitions provide no reason to overturn the finding that DeCoteau is inapplicable to this case. Gaffey, 188 F.3d at 1020 (language and history markedly different between Yankton and Sisseton acts of Congress); Tr.Br. at ⁹The State asserts manifest injustice without explanation. However, the County and State conceded on remand that disestablishment evidence would not be admitted. T.T. 181:13-20. Therefore, the Tribe has been denied opportunity to present the factual evidence it had prepared to refute any such claim.

62-69. Likewise, Rosebud Sioux Tribe v. Kneip, 430 U.S. at 611-612, was rejected because it involved different Congressional legislation. 188 F.3d 1017.

4. The Yankton Reservation was not disestablished by the 1894 Act.

The State and County Petitions reframe the prior holdings of this Court and the Supreme Court to argue this is an “invisible” reservation without any boundaries. St.Reh.Br. at 12. Gaffey held that the “original exterior boundaries of the reservation have not been maintained” because the Reservation was diminished by Article I of the 1894 Act. Yankton, 522 U.S. at 355; Gaffey, 188 F.3d, at 1030. The diminishment of an “original” reservation boundary by Act of Congress does not disestablish the entire reservation, or “create” an “invisible” reservation, as Gaffey recognized. Id. There is no law or Canon of Construction requiring an Indian Reservation to be a particular size or shape. Pelican, 232 U.S. at 447. The term “Reservation” comes from the reservation of lands excluded from a State and reserved from United States public domain lands. Rosebud Am.Br. at 4-6; South Dakota Constitution, Article XXII at T.Add. 21; T.Br., at 9-10.

These Petitions are no more than an attempt to bootstrap the County’s history of treatment of tribal members into grounds for a disestablishment, which this Court and the Supreme Court have soundly rejected. Solem v. Bartlett, 465 U.S., at 479, n.23; City of New Town v. United States, 454 F.2d, at 123; T.Br., at

66. The new assertion that there are two county institutions affected is no different from the County's oral argument to the Panel that the Lake Andes Courthouse would be on the Reservation. As the Panel noted, the Tribe and county "have found a way to work out their differences," just as reservation local and tribal governments do every day. Podhradsky, 577 F.3d at 959.

The Amicus Briefs in support of Rehearing raise speculative fears about tribal civil jurisdiction, ignoring the fact that this case is about criminal jurisdiction over tribal members. Such speculation is not a legal basis for disestablishment. See, County of Mille Lacs v. Benjamin, 361 F.3d 460 (8th Cir. 2004), cert. denied, 543 U.S. 956. (speculative fears not basis to diminish or terminate reservation). The Amici assert new inaccurate statistics, after the Tribe's evidence on fee land ownership within city limits was excluded on remand. T.T. 88:5-25; 89:1-14; Tr. Resp. Br., at 19. The "Indian character" of this area remains. T.Add. at 33-34.¹⁰ The assertion that "no one behaved as if the reservation remained,” is refuted by the record before this Court. S.Reh.Pet., at 13. The only entity with authority to diminish this Reservation, Congress, always recognized that this Reservation exists and includes more than trust lands. See, Section III.A., infra.; TB, at 14-18, 47. The Tribe has always maintained a tribal government, a tribal court, and a police force, as it did before South Dakota became a state in 1889. Gaffey, 188 F.3d, at 1028; TB, at 14; TA 53-68. The State and County did not allow Indian allottees to vote until 1951, and voted not to exercise jurisdiction in 1902 and 1961. SDCL 1-1-20; TA 24, 69-71.

The State has argued five times that Rehearing, Hearing en banc, and Supreme Court certiorari is warranted by the conflict with State Supreme Court opinions and DeCoteau, and it has been repeatedly rejected.¹¹

IV. CONCLUSION

Granting a rehearing on Petitions that do not point to a single word in the 1894 Act or any legislative history that supports their position, is unwarranted.

decrees for violating Section V of the Voting Rights Act. Weddell v. Wagner Community School District, Civ. No. 02-4056 (D.S.D. 2005); Black Moon v. Charles Mix County, 386 F.Supp.2d 1008 (D.S.D. 2005).

¹¹Podhradsky, 577 F.3d at 963, n.7; May 15, 2008 Petition for Hearing En banc at p. 11; May 19, 2008 Order Denying En Banc Hearing Petition; 98-3894 October 29, 1999 Cty. Reh. Petition; 98-3894 December 8, 1999 Order Denying Petition For Rehearing; Yankton, 530 U.S. 1261 (2000).

Only Congress can diminish a Reservation, and it must do so in precise and clear language. Yankton, 532 U.S. at 344. Here, not only is diminishment language lacking, there is clear language and legislative history reserving allotted lands in Articles XIII and XIV of the 1894 Act, and the Negotiating Committee's pronouncement to Congress that,

“the Indians were not selling their whole reservation, but less than two-fifths of it, and that more than three-fifths of it would remain in their possession . . . We think the value of these surplus lands per acre would be doubled if the whole reservation were being disposed of by the Indians.”

SA 307 (p.12, par. 1); TB 12; Gaffey, 188 F.3d, at 1026. None of the other parties in this litigation have ever refuted these arguments. Fourteen years of these same “sky is falling” arguments are not grounds for a rehearing, as the Supreme Court held when considering these same arguments in Mattz v. Arnett involving the Klamath Tribe's Reservation, which is an irregular shape,

The presence of allotment provisions in the 1892 Act cannot be interpreted to mean that the reservation was to be terminated. This is apparent from the very language of 18 U.S.C. §1151, defining Indian country ‘notwithstanding the issuance of any patent’ therein. . . . Congress was fully aware of the means by which termination could be effected. But clear termination language was not employed in the 1892 Act.”

412 U.S. 481, 504 (1973). For the foregoing reasons, the Petitions for Rehearing should be denied.

Respectfully Submitted this 25th day of January, 2010.
