Data source: U.S. Census Bureau¹ OTSA: Oklahoma Tribal Statistical Area, statistical equivalent of an American Indian reservation in Oklahoma. The states of AK, AR, DE, GA, HI, IL, IN, KY, MD, MA, MO, NC, NH, NJ, OH, PA, RI, SC, TN, VT, VA, and WV had no cities or towns in reservations. AIAN: American Indian/Alaska Native. AoiC: Alone or in combination with other races

Methodology: This analysis uses data from the U. S. Census Bureau. Data for population, land area, and place type were downloaded from the American Factfinder tool. Using advanced search, data were selected by geographic summary level “269--Place/Remainder (or part) within State within AIA/ANA/HHL” and further narrowed by “city,” “town,” or “village.” Maps use Census TIGER/Line shapefiles for American Indian area geography and places. The places layer was clipped by the reservation layer in ArcGIS to eliminate places outside of reservation areas to provide a clearer visual of the geographic overlap.

Results: Including Oklahoma Tribal Statistical Areas (OTSA) and federal Indian reservation and trust land, 545 cities, towns, and villages overlapped or were within tribal areas in 21 states, encompassing 2,100 square miles, and almost 1 million people (954,424 people), of whom at least 85 percent were non-Indian. Excluding OTSAs, 134 cities, towns, or villages overlapped or were within reservation boundaries, totaling 227 square miles and with 214,544 people, of whom at least 87 percent were non-Indian. Towns and cities were only counted in the above totals if the majority of people living on the city land in a reservation area were non-Indian.

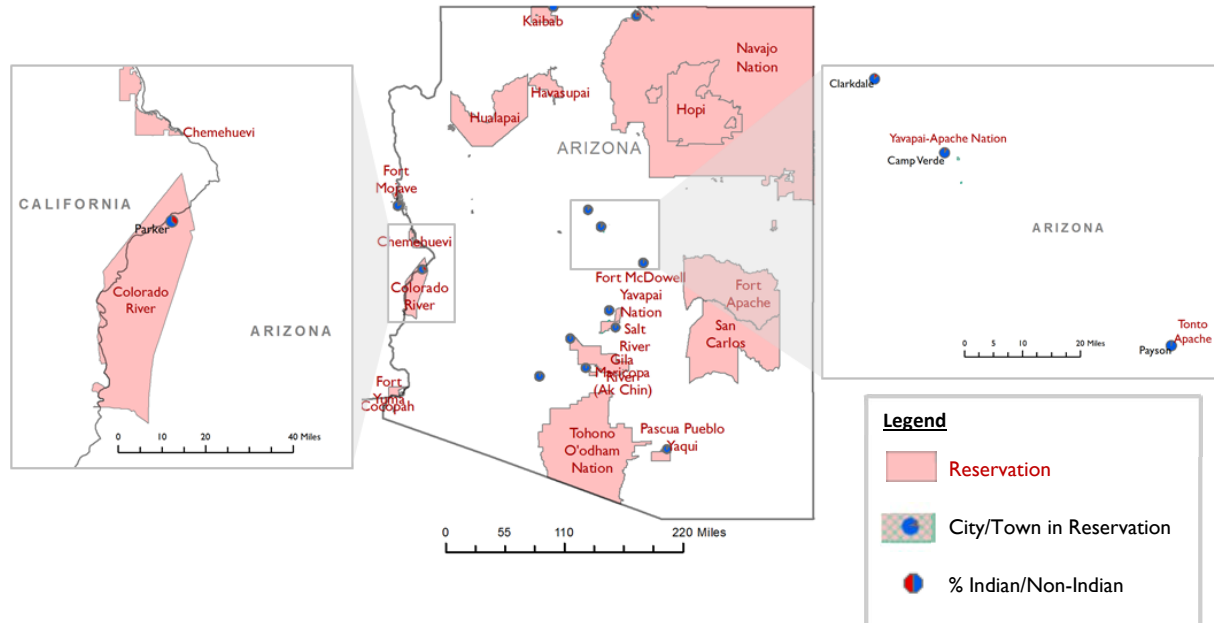

State Detail

The remainder of this analysis explores state level detail for states with many cities, towns, or villages inside or overlapping reservation areas. Information on type of city, town, or village is included as well as total population

¹ US Census Bureau; 2010 Census, Tables P1, P6, and G001, Summary Level 269; generated by the National Congress of American Indians; using American FactFinder <<http://factfinder2.census.gov>>; (5 April 2015)

(all races), the American Indian/Alaska Native (alone or in combination with other races) population, and square mile area of the city/town/place within the reservation area. Cities having populations more than 50 percent non-Indian are highlighted in light red. Maps throughout this appendix were created using 2012 TIGER/Line Shapefiles for American Indian areas and 2013 TIGER/Line Shapefiles for places from the US Census Bureau, Geography Division, using ESRI ArcMAP, Version 10.1.

Census Geography Definitions

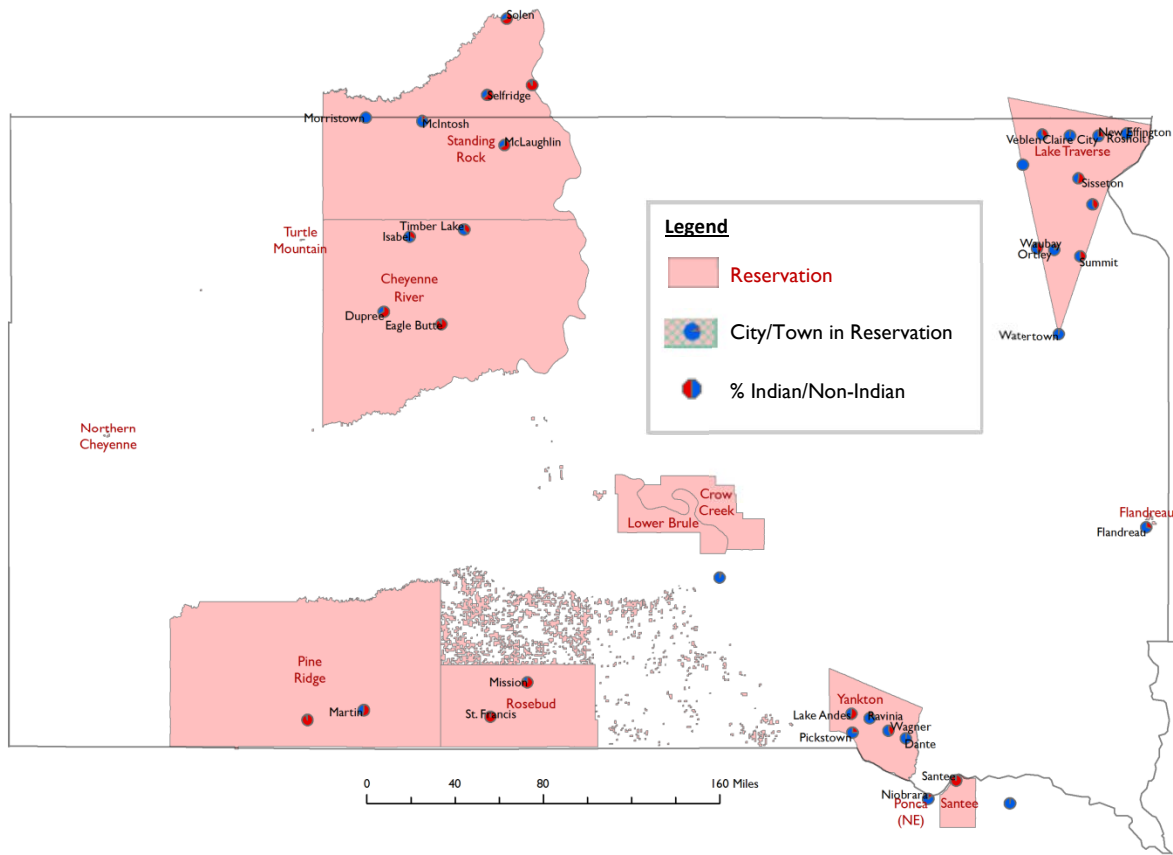

Oklahoma tribal statistical areas (OTSAs) are statistical entities identified and delineated by the Census Bureau in consultation with federally recognized American Indian tribes that had a former reservation in Oklahoma. The boundary of an OTSA will be that of the former reservation in Oklahoma, except where modified by agreements with neighboring tribes for statistical data presentation purposes.

American Indian reservations—Federal (AIRs) are areas that have been set aside by the United States for the use of tribes, the exterior boundaries of which are more particularly defined in the final tribal treaties, agreements, executive orders, federal statutes, secretarial orders, or judicial determinations. The Bureau of Indian Affairs maintains a list of all federally recognized tribal governments and makes final determination of the inventory of federal American Indian reservations. The Census Bureau recognizes federal reservations (and associated off-reservation trust lands) as territory over which American Indian tribes have primary governmental authority. American Indian reservations can be legally described as colonies, communities, Indian colonies, Indian communities, Indian rancherias, Indian reservations, Indian villages, pueblos, rancherias, ranches, reservations, reserves, settlements, or villages. The Census Bureau contacts representatives of American Indian tribal governments to identify the boundaries for federal reservations through its annual Boundary and Annexation Survey. Federal reservations may cross state and all other area boundaries.
