SECOND CALL FOR SUBMISSIONS

The Tribal Law Journal (TLJ), published at the University of New Mexico School of Law, is still accepting submissions for Volume 21. Submissions are accepted until October 18, 2020.

TLJ was established in 1998 for the purpose of promoting Indigenous self-determination by facilitating discussion of the internal law of the world’s Indigenous nations. The internal law of Indigenous nations encompasses traditional law, western law adopted by Indigenous nations, and a blend of western and Indigenous law. Underscoring this purpose is the recognition that traditional law is a source of law.

Article submissions are accepted through BePress/ExpressO or by emailing martinjes@law.unm.edu and spivakma@law.unm.edu. The Tribal Law Journal accepts both written and oral submissions, including multimedia projects (e.g., interviews, stories, art) from law students, practitioners, tribal members, and faculty. For articles, please include a brief abstract and footnote with the author’s biographical information.

For more information or to answer any questions, please contact Jessica Martínez or Max Spivak at the above-mentioned emails.
